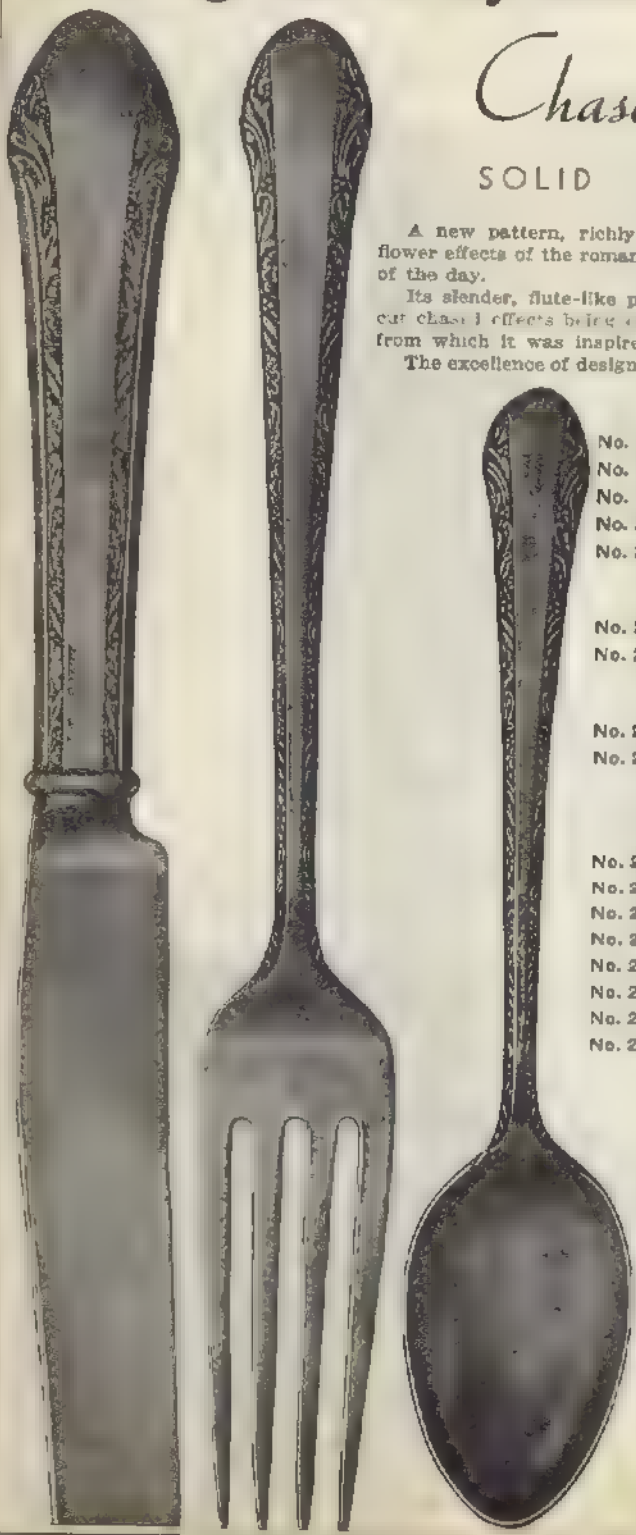
Sterling Silver By Alvin, 925/1000 Fine



Chased Romantique

SOLID STERLING SILVER

A new pattern, richly endowed with the beautifully chased scroll and flower effects of the romantic Louis XV Period, that again becomes the mode of the day.

Its slender, flute-like panels lend a touch of feminine dignity, the deep-cut chased effects being emblematic of the pomp and splendor of the period from which it was inspired.

The excellence of design is accentuated by its beautiful, bright butler finish.

New CAMEO Pattern

Dessert Knife | Dessert Fork | Tea Spoon

The worth of the Cameo is not expressed in terms of intrinsic value—but in the supreme achievement of the craftsman in approaching perfection in relief-carving.

CAMEO pattern, in Alvin "highest grade silver-plate"—therefore—is correctly named; it represents all that could be desired in delicate relief and panel effects that have remained in vogue throughout the ages. "A gem in raised relief."

Springtime

with its lavishly carved ornamentation takes its theme from the Renaissance ... that period of inspired art and elaborate decoration ... and portrays in solid silver the luxury and the gaiety for which the Court of the Louis' is so renowned.

Primrose

Here is a Sterling Silver pattern that is as lovely as a chalice by Cellini. Its exquisite flowers and leaves are delicately carved and modeled ... then the background is cut away leaving a lacy filigree of indescribable beauty

Della Robbia

SOLID STERLING SILVER

The creative genius of Della Robbia furnished the inspiration for this supremely artistic pattern in Sterling Silver.

Its finely modeled decorative motif is a true adaptation of the purity of line and symmetry of design that have been brought down from the Renaissance.

The excellence of design is accentuated by its beautiful bright burnished finish.

One of the new items to be shown at the Toy Fair is the Blossom Box, pictured herewith. This new number is a paint set consisting of spring flowers to cut out, color and pot. Included in the set are seven water colors, a brush, a color guide sheet, twenty-four pots of flowers to be colored and a similar number of flower pots. The set comes in a colorful display box, retails for $1.00, and is but one of the new numbers that will be shown by Milton Bradley Company.

Two newcomers to toydom are Susie-Q and Bobby-Q. These dolls are of cloth construction, and incorporate new type hand-painted turning heads on a semi-soft body. They are sculptures in the image of the authentic Susie-Q an Bobby-Q characters which are now being sold in the greeting card departments of leading stores. Susie-Q comes dressed in a variety of prints and other appropriately interesting materials. Bobby-Q comes dressed in cute little trousers wih coat and straw hat to match. His entire costume matches that of his sister, Susie-Q. Both dolls are 16" high, are one of the new numbers in the Alexander Doll Co. line and retail for $3.00.

Pictured herewith is one of the American Portrait dolls which will be shown during the Toy Fair by Fleischaker and Baum. The American Portrait dolls are made in three sizes, 14 inch, 16 inch and 20 inch, and there are three different faces in each size. The facial expressions are changed still further by the use of a number of different ways of arranging the hair. The dolls look like children and are dressed just as mothers would dress their own children. These dolls, which were introduced last year, have already become popular and for the Toy Fair the dolls will be shown in a number of new and striking costumes. It is said of these dolls that they extend the girls' interest in playing with dolls beyond the age when they normally start to feel too grown-up. The American Portrait Doll retails at prices ranging from five to fifteen dollars, according to size

Two Winning "Alive and Unhurt" Type Traps in Action

American Humane Assn. Announces Eleventh Annual Trap Contest

CASH prizes totaling $550 are offered by The American Humane Association in its Eleventh Annual Humane Trap Contest which is now under way and runs to April 30.

Prizes will be divided into three groups of two prizes each; $150 and $75 are offered for the best traps for taking animals alive and unhurt.

The Association feels that better devices and more humane methods for taking animals will not only solve the humane trapping problem but will also show what is meant by true conservation and treatment of wildlife.

Entry blanks and detailed contest information is available by writing to The American Humane Association, 80 Howard street, Albany, N. Y. All contestants will receive a year's free subscription to The National Humane Review, published by that organization.

Judges Preble, Dearborn and Stutterback discuss the merits of a few of the traps submitted in the 1937 contest while W. J. Schoonmaker and W. E. Sanderson look on. Due to the better quality and increased quantity of traps entered in recent contests, the judges are finding it more difficult every year to reach a decision.

A new line of rubber pitching shoes for indoor playing is announced by Giant Grip Mfg. Co., Oshkosh, Wisconsin, as an addition to their regular pitching shoes. Illustrated here is the playing set consisting of a rubber mat, rubber pitching shoes, and steel stake. The rubber pitching shoes are finished in red and blue, regulation size, in the Champion hooked heel pattern. The shoes are steel weighted, but are light weight, weighing only 1 lb. 2 oz. each. The steel stakes are 5½" high, made of steel, aluminum finish, and are held in place by a plate underneath the mat, but are easily removed. The entire set is attractively finished and designed to increase interest in horseshoe pitching by making available sets for indoor playing.

SELCHOW & RIGHTER LAUNCH CONSUMER CAMPAIGN

Selchow & Righter Company, of New York City, in cooperation with their advertising agents, have prepared a series of advertisements for dealers, featuring a group of games that have been selected from more than 100 of their items. Prominent among them is "Mr. Rec," "Royal Jacks," the "Dale Carnegie" game, "Cabby," "Luck-A-Chuck" and "Parcheesi." These games, and many others in the line, will be advertised by the Selchow & Righter Company in a sizeable list of leading consumer mediums and offer an excellent opportunity for dealers to tie in with this national campaign by running the suggested announcements in local newspapers. A complete cut sheet showing the new series of dealer ads will be mailed on request.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING FOR SCHOENHUT TOYS

The Schoenhut Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia, announces an aggressive national advertising campaign to promote Skyline Builder and Radio Sound Effects. More than 2,000,000 sales messages will appear between October 1st and mid-December. Skyline Builder, which made an instant hit with model railroaders of all ages when it was introduced last year, is being advertised in Popular Science, Model Builder, Railroad Magazine, Model Craftsman and Model Railroader. These publications have been carefully selected because they practically blanket the model railroading and hobby craft field. They will drive home the Schoenhut message not only to youthful owners of toy railroads but also to adult scale model fans—a fact of particular interest to stores operating hobby departments. In addition to consumer advertising, Schoenhut announces a complete point-of-sale program for Skyline which includes displays and dealer helps. The trade is invited to write for details. Radio Sound Effects, one of the most newsworthy and dramatic toys of the year, will be promoted with space of generous size in the December issue of Children's Activities. This publication reaching homes in the upper income brackets will bring Radio Sound Effects forcefully to the attention of 300,000 boys and girls and parents well able to afford toys of the better class. The Schoenhut advertisement is dramatically headlined "Fun Is On the Air" and is calculated to produce brisk sales for stores featuring this interesting item.

CAPACITY PRODUCTION AT ATWO PLANT

Joe Levy, salesmanager of the American Toy Works, says that although they were sure their new plant, into which they moved early this year, would be plenty large enough to take care of their needs for a long time to come, business on the 1938 Atwo line to date has been so heavy that their enlarged production facilities are already being severely taxed. In the almost half century existence of this veteran toy manufacturer, according to Mr Levy, they have never offered a line in a given season that has met with such an immediate and enthusiastic response. Mr Levy attributes this noteworthy sales increase to the almost unprecedented number of new items which Atwo designed and offered to the trade for 1938. A special staff of talented designers and artists is busy at work every day in the year developing new popular sellers, with the one object in view—the creation of entirely original merchandise. Naturally a designing department of this type costs money, but it is money that The American Toy Works feels is well invested, for it is giving them a reputation as being a source of supply for really different toys and games, made and packaged in the most modern manner. For 1939 this progressive concern is perfecting still further plans for progress and growth. New numbers literally by the dozen are in the process of being made ready for the 1939 season, and it is expected that the American Toy Works will again be in a strong position to make new higher sales records.

ACME INTRODUCES A NEW CAP PISTOL

The Acme Pistol Cap, Inc., Columbus, Ohio, manufacturers of high grade toy pistols and paper caps announce a new all-steel precision made automatic repeating cap pistol. Made by experienced mechanics and precision machinery, this attractive blue steel finish non-breakable cap pistol, looks and feels like a real automatic. Its many fine features are: that it fires away from the face, it is easy to load, clean and oil, and will shoot any standard roll cap, plain or perforated. When oiling and cleaning all that is necessary to do is take out two small screws and the whole side hits off—it will not fly to pieces, and can still be operated in this position. The pistol comes packaged in an individual, attractice, eye-appealing display carton. Acme Pistol Cap, Inc., also manufactures a complete line of repeater roll caps and single shot mammoth caps. Prices, information and samples will be sent on request.

GANG BUSTERS DISGUISE KITS

Miner's, Inc., who presented their new nationally publicized $1 retailer "Gang Busters Disguise Kit" for the first time at the Toy Fair in April are "going places" with this unique item. And now that the Phillips H. Lord's "Gang Busters" radio program has resumed on a Columbia Broadcasting System 68 station network the demand for this sensational toy, Miner's feel, will be greater than ever. Due to demand by its tremendous juvenile audience, this extremely popular program has been pushed ahead from its previous time—two hours—to 8 P.M. on Wednesdays. Millions of youngsters are thrilled by these exciting radio dramatizations and this kit gives them the chance to make-up like their favorite "Gang Busters" heroes. The kit contains make-up for at least 50 different characters and invisible ink, secret codes, finger printing material and scores of "Gang Busters" episodes.

Of course, the "Gang Busters Disguise Kit" is a holiday as well as an all year 'round seller as is their "Juvenile Movie Make-up Kit"—also a $1 retailer. For Hallowe'en and Thanksgiving, their 10c and 25c "Individual Character Make-up Kits" are especially good numbers. The 10c kit comes in six units and the 25c kit in eight units—in characters (hobo, clown, Indian, Ape-man, Pirate, Cowboy, etc.) just to fit the spirit of these two holidays. Wise merchandise men will do well to look into the possibilities of this line.

PICTURES SHOT FROM GUNS!

Clarence L. Stephens, President of Stephens Products Company, Inc., New York City, manufacturer of the Auto-Magic Picture Gun Line, announces a year of great progress and elaborate plans for national advertising for the third Fall season of this popular specialty. Owing to the instant and universal appeal of the sport of "shooting pictures" to children of all ages, races and nationalities, plus strong patent protection, the sale of Auto-Magic Picture Guns has become world wide. Picture Guns are now exported to twenty-eight nations on four continents and, as a result, Auto-Magic Film caption writers are boasting of their abilities as linguists in foreign languages. Among the advances made this year in the art of shooting pictures, Mr. Stephens, who is also the inventor of the Picture Gun, takes greatest satisfaction in the mechanical perfection of the gun itself. Improvements in design and mechanism have resulted in an easy action, smooth-performing gun that flashes pictures of great clarity on wall, ceiling or floor, with unfailing precision! The 1938 gun is foolproof, says Mr. Stephens, and is so ruggedly constructed that lifetime service may be guaranteed. Of especial appeal to the trade are the new Picture Gun Outfits which are larger and more complete than in previous years. The boxes of both the $1.50 and the $1.00 Outfits are considerably increased in size and contain more films and other accessories. So great is the tangible value of the new Auto-Magic Outfits, they are said to have been placed on the "preferred list" by leading stores in every section. With a solid distribution from coast to coast and with a heavy demonstration booking, the Stephens Products Company, Inc., has under way a smashing national campaign of magazine advertising to many millions of readers. This advertising effort will exceed last year's, says Mr. Stephens, and is planned to carry the message of the Picture Gun into the homes that make up the bulk of the toy market in every city, town and hamlet. A strong seller in any season, the Picture Gun, with its unique and exclusive appeal, seems destined for a big holiday season.

AIR GUNS FOR 52 YEARS

The Daisy Mfg. Company, of Plymouth, Mich., is certainly an old-timer in the toy industry. Through the purchase of the King Mfg. Company, who started making air rifles in 1886, their line has been in continuous manufacture for 52 years. In 1936 they brought out the Golden Anniversary model of their air gun and it attracted widespread attention.

TOYS FOR NEW ZEALAND

Weston Bros. & Co., Ltd., 132 Manchester Street, Christchurch, New Zealand, write that they would be pleased to receive catalogs or offers from manufacturers who have popular toys or novelties to sell. They state that they prefer to act as distributing agents on a commission basis but will also buy on their own account. Their organization was established in 1904.

Personology Bridge

Charles Henry Fletcher, graphologist, handwriting expert, lecturer and feature writer, is the inventor of a new game which is called Personology Bridge. In a recent interview, Mr. Fletcher said: "A new game like Personology Bridge should sweep the country with its popularity, because it has all of the features that make bridge an outstanding game and, in addition, has the fascinating extra feature of graphology applied to the game. Millions of people have had their handwriting analyzed through periodicals—now, this feature is added to the game of bridge. Nothing is taken from the game of bridge—handwriting analysis is simply added to make both angles all the more attractive. Since millions of people now play bridge, a very large percentage of them will welcome Personology Bridge, because it has the added feature of handwriting. Every individual is interested in his own character as revealed by his handwriting, and is likewise interested in trying to find out some of the outstanding traits or characteristics of his friends. This game should receive a quick acceptance from the public. Nothing like it has ever been developed in the game field before and we see it as being the popular favorite in many homes. Enclosed with each game is a card which entitles the purchaser to a free analysis of his or her handwriting. There is no charge for this analysis—all the purchaser has to do is return the card that comes with the game."

SAYS "MAMA" AND "PAPA"

The Mid West Doll Mfg. Co. of St. Louis, Mo., has just introduced a remarkable new doll. This doll features a new voice which says "Papa" as well as "Mama." The new doll will be known as the Bee-Bee Doll. The new Bee-Bee Dolls, by the invention of an ingenious device, have a clearly audible "Papa" voice in addition to the equally audible and realistic "Mama" voice. The featured "Papa" and "Mama" voice is heard from the front of the Doll. The voice is heard by tilting the doll sideways and one can look at its face while it speaks. The firm manufactures its own voices and it is interesting to note that the voice was invented and patented by Arthur Petrov, President of the firm. Mr. Petrov spent years perfecting a voice which would say "Papa" as well as "Mama," and the result of his efforts is found in the voice now featured in the Bee-Bee Dolls; a voice which will more than please the most exacting prospective customer. Another splendid and salable feature of the Bee-Bee Doll is the fact that by holding its hands lightly it can be made to walk easily and naturally. Bee-Bee Dolls are also made to sit upright on the edge of a chair, table, etc. Beautiful dresses of many different styles are being offered on all Bee-Bee Dolls. Although introduced late for the forthcoming fall and holiday season, Bee-Bee Dolls are being shown at all leading St. Louis Department Stores and the manufacturer reports that buyers are enthusiastic to the customer appeal and salability of the Dolls. Recently the firm moved to larger quarters and plans are being made for still further expansion. The factory is then expected to be in a position to supply the 1939 demand.

GRUSKIN & BIRNES SIGN NEW CHARACTER ITEMS

Gruskin and Birnes, commercial representatives for well known characters and stage and screen personalities, announce that they have recently completed several interesting tie-ups with well known toy makers. The Schavoir Rubber Co. has obtained the rights to produce a Lew Lehr Rubber Doll, while a variety of new Lew Lehr toy items are being offered by James McGowan Ass. Mr. Lehr has just signed a contract with the American Tobacco Co. for a 26-week radio program. Twentieth Century Fox are making a series of short subjects to be titled "Lew Lehr's Kindergarten."

A REAL PIONEER

Among the outstanding pioneers of the toy industry is the Embossing Company of Albany, N. Y. Sixty-nine years ago, the founders of this company invented a new process of embossing wood and utilized it most effectively in the manufacture of dominoes, checkers and a great variety of toys. Always jealous of their reputation, this company has emphasized quality throughout their entire career. They were leaders in the movement to the Fifth Avenue Building, which has now become the Toy Center. Many new and popular games have been introduced by them during the long period of their business career.

A Scene from the Picture "Men With Wings"

NEW MOVIE WILL BOOST AIRPLANE KIT SALES

The Comet Model Airplane and Supply Company is pleased to announce a promotional plan that should be valuable to all concerns handling model airplane kits and parts. Paramount Pictures, Inc., are cooperating with Comet to sponsor "Men With Wings" Model Airplane Building Contests through Comet dealers and theatres showing 'Men With Wings,' Paramount's new technicolor epic of aviation, to be released the first part of October in first run theatres. "Men With Wings" is a cavalcade of aviation opening with the successful flight of the Wright brothers at Kitty Hawk, N. C., in 1903 and closing with the evolution of the plane of the future 100-passenger ships that will fly the Atlantic and Pacific with safety. In the early development of the picture, model airplane building—which incidentally began in China, 600 B.C.—is given a great deal of boost and is depicted as playing an important part in the rapid development of aviation.

All types of planes in use from 1903 to the present are shown. A curious fact is that Paramount experienced great difficulty in obtaining authentic planes of the vintage. After many weeks of searching an original French Spad was found rotting away in the basement of the Hotel Imperial, Imperial, California, and a German Fokker D-7 was found in an old barn near Los Angeles, California. These and many others equally prominent in their days, were put in working condition and are used in the picture. "Men With Wings" will certainly stimulate interest in model building, and Comet is happy to say that they have kits retailing from 10c to $3.95 of most of the planes that are used in the picture.

HALSAM'S LOG CABIN

Illustrated is a log cabin built with ¼-inch American Logs, a product of Halsam Products Co. and the inset shows in detail the snug fit of these logs, the beveled edges and the embossing. All of these features are originations of Halsam and are the main reasons for the unusual reception this line has had from both the toy trade and the buying public. Coupled with these outstanding construction features, Halsam has packaged American Log sets in a most attractive manner, the label being selected by buyers during the Toy Fair contest as one of the finest and most prominent contributions of the year. Then, the wide range in the American Log line has added to its success. With three sizes of logs, 9/16-inch, ¾-inch and 1-inch, with sets ranging from 44 to 328 pieces, and with a retail price range of from 25 cents to $10.00, the toy buyer and the public have a selection that fills every need.

FRANK A. MONTEI DOING WELL

There are a great many friends of the toy trade who will be glad to hear that Frank A. Montei is getting along very nicely. This popular toy man, formerly buyer for O. Fox & Co., Hartford, Conn., was stricken with a serious illness a few weeks ago. The road to recovery has been a slow one, but Miss N. Bradley, toy buyer for the Fox store, who was previously Mr. Montei's assistant, reports that he is now much better.

DOLL HOUSES MODELED FROM REAL HOMES

Raymond B. Ayers, Jr. (B. Lawrence Ave., Lynbrook, L. I., N. Y.) is producing a line of doll houses that are exact reproductions of real homes. They are sturdily built, beautifully finished, and careful attention has been given to detail. All have electric lights, flower boxes, window shades, and doors that open and close. Some have the effect kitchens and baths, and electrically lighted fireplaces. The line includes bungalows, English country homes and American Colonials. The model pictures here is a Colonial house with six rooms. It is 35" long, 14" wide and 24" high. The exterior is finished in white stucco and grey fieldstone effect, with red flagged porch floor and blue flower boxes, white trim and grey roof. There is an electrically lighted fireplace in the living room and a stairway from the first to the second floor. All floors have an oak finish. Mr. Ayers says that he has perfected methods of production that allow the houses to be sold at modest figures.

THE "DOODLEBUG" PATROL HAS ADDED FEATURE

The "Doodlebug" line of three and four wheel juvenile vehicles, manufactured by the Beckley-Ralston Co., Chicago, includes a model that is proving decidedly popular among youthful make-believe "smoke-eaters." This is the "Patrol" (a 4-wheeler), and to make it even more popular the manufacturers have recently equipped it with a pair of wooden ladders, one on either side, that securely fasten in place, yet are easily detached for use. A great deal has been said and written lately about training the social side in child development, to encourage youngsters to get along amiably with their playfellows and be less self-centered. In the realm of toys the Doodlebug Patrol offers a practical aid to this end, for it is built for two riders, who may cooperate nicely, one on the driver's seat, propelling the car's course, while the other child stands on the rear platform, from which observation point he can keep busy, too, clanging a gong beneath the handrail. On reaching the imaginary fire both members of the crew alight and go into action, for there's a rung-ladder for each of them. This extra feature, the ladders, has been added at no extra cost to the purchaser. The Beckley-Ralston Co. are now preparing to meet the holiday demands for their unique range of wheel goods, that has met with excellent response, we hear, by the trade and public alike.

ELKAY BUSY

Lou Kassler, of Elkay Mfg. Corp., is on the job early and late rushing out shipments on his popular communicators and telegraph and telephone sets.

SAYCO'S "MARY ANN" AND "BABY ANN"

Among the many items in the large 1938 Sayco doll line that are receiving careful attention from buyers everywhere are two outstanding feature dolls, "Mary Ann" and "Baby Ann." Retailing for $2 and 3, these stylish creations are the result of I. Schoen's determined effort to offer the trade maximum quality at a popular price. Andy Fleischaker, sales manager of the Sayco Doll Corp., assisted by Gene Roth, report that sales to date on the Sayco line are far in excess of any recent year

CHEMCRAFT CAMPAIGN

The Porter Chemical Company, manufacturers of Chemcraft Chemical Outfits, are looking forward to an exceptionally active Fall and Holiday season. The new 1938-1939 line features a number of interesting and attractive improvements and additions that will add to the ever increasing popularity of Chemcraft. One of the most instructive and interesting features of the Chemcraft line is the elaborate Instruction Manual that is furnished with the Outfits.

These manuals have been prepared with the utmost care to keep them authoritative and up to date. Just as an indication of the extent to which some of these manuals cover the subject, might be mentioned the Chemcraft Experiment Manual No 25, a book of 235 pages filled with directions for performing over 800 chemical experiments.

In all the manuals, as well as in consumer advertising in national magazines, emphasis is laid on the fact that Chemcraft Outfits contain no dangerous poisons or explosive chemicals.

The 1938 Consumer Advertising Campaign in national magazines will present Chemcraft Outfits to boys and girls and their parents in an entirely new, novel and interesting way. This new appeal has been worked out after careful study by Harold M. Porter, president of the company, and his advertising agency, Atherton & Currier of New York City. Those to whom the campaign has been shown, have expressed the opinion that it will be effective in creating many new buyers for Chemcraft Outfits.

Of outstanding interest to Chemcraft dealers is the new counter book "Adventures in Science." In addition to being furnished to the stores for free counter distribution, this book is being offered to consumers through advertising in National Magazines. Retail Dealers may tie in with Chemcraft national advertising by sending for mats of illustrations and suggestions for copy to be used in their advertising in local newspapers. The Porter Chemical Company invites all dealers to avail themselves of this service, and the other cooperative features which are being offered by the manufacturer.

A WHIRLING RING TOSS GAME

The Tudor Metal Products Corp., 127 W. 25th St., New York, have brought out a one dollar retail size of their Ringthrola whirling ring toss game. In this game, quoits are thrown at a revolving disc on which there are three colored cones with various scoring values. Each white rope quoit has a different color rubber sleeve, and the score gained by ringing any cone doubles when the color of the cone and the quoit sleeve match. This added incentive to skilful throwing at a moving target makes plenty of excitement when Ringthrola is being played. There is also a two dollar retail size of this game, which is larger and has four cones. Other interesting items offered by Gene Levay and Elmer Sas are a Home Budget Bank and the well known and fast selling 1-2-3 Electric Race Game

Recoton's Display Card

RECOTON NEEDLES ANNOUNCES BRILLIANT NEW DISPLAY

To assist merchants in bringing the good points of their distinctive phonograph needles to the attention of the public, Recoton Corp., 178 Prince Street, New York City, has just produced a dramatic full-colored display card, which is large enough to tell the story and yet small enough not to usurp too much of a dealer's valuable counter, window or wall space. This card stresses "10 Plays to a Needle," also the special rounded point and the special shaft which have resulted in such uniformly fine performance. The card is easeled and also punched for hanging, and is now being included in shipments through the regular jobbing trade.

SAMPAN ANNIE GETS HER DOLL

Out in Hong-Kong, China, where the flying boats of the Pan American Airways drop down out of the sky, there is a remarkable woman who has been called "Sampan Annie." She got the appellation nearly two years ago when the first clipper flew on across the China Sea from Manila to Hong-Kong with a party of Pan American officials and guests aboard on a final route survey flight preliminary to the extension of Pacific air mail service from the Philippines to China. The captain of the big flying boat and his crew were filled with consternation as they taxied toward their appointed mooring buoy in the river off Kai Tak airport. Instead of the familiar Pan American seaman in white overalls, a bulky woman in baggy shapeless native dress was coming out to meet them in a little rowboat with the bow line to which the Clippers are first secured. The consternation soon disappeared as the Chinese woman did a remarkable job in mooring the Clipper. Practically single-handed, she performed the job with skill and despatch. Next morning, however, "Sampan Annie" was late, which worried the airship's crew. But she was not very late, and afterward explained that her tardiness was due to the arrival of little Mu-Lin, the latest in a long line of Sampan Annie's" offspring. Mu-Lin is two years old now, and recently she made a request to the airway officials—she wanted a doll. It was the opinion of the airport manager that "Sampan Annie's" Mu-Lin should have the "best damn doll money can buy." So the far-flung department [illegible] Days had arranged to ship an Effanbee "Portrait" Doll to Mu-Lin. The doll traveled in high style, being a guest of the airline all the way from New York to Hong-Kong. From the illustration, it looks very much as if it would be difficult to get the doll away from the stewardess on the big mainliner.

PROGRESS IN STEEL TOYS

Buddy 'L' Company, East Moline, Ill. have recently issued an attractive catalog showing their line of steel playthings. Twenty-seven years ago, Fred Lundahl, a mechanical engineer, conceived the idea of making steel pull toys on a scale basis with absolute fidelity to the original. This line was introduced at the Toy Fair of 1922 and created an immediate sensation. Improvements in machinery and methods have enabled the company to lower the price for these toys year by year, until today a toy which is practically the same as one retailing for $6.00 or more twenty-six years ago is now available at a retail price of $1.00. One of the most interesting of the Buddy 'L' toys is the mechanical Greyhound Bus. When this is wound up it will run either in a straight line or a circle. It stops automatically, the door opens, a bell rings, and the stop light flashes, all within a few seconds. After a short wait, the door closes, the light goes out, the bell stops ringing and the bus travels on, to repeat its performance further along.

"MEENY, MINY, MOE" FILMS— THE THREE WISE MONKEYS

Hollywood Film Enterprises, Inc., Hollywood, Calif. have added the "Three Wise Monkeys" to their already popular line of world-famous 8 m.m. and 16 m.m. film. In a report from H. Emmett, general manager of this concern, it is stated that the latest brother comedy trio bids fair to rival the famous Marx and Ritz brothers. These three Simple Simian brothers are known as "Meeny, Miny, Moe" and are the problem children of Walter Lantz, who produces cartoons for Universal Pictures Corp. for world-wide distribution. Captured in the African jungles by Walter Lantz, they are capturing the hearts of home movie fans as well as theatre audiences the world over.

DESIGN BLOX IN NEW DRESS

The Morris Products Company, in Kansas City, Mo., are proud of the fact that their toy blocks were given endorsement by Children's Activities magazine at the New York Toy Fair. These blocks are made in three simple shapes and in six brilliant colors, providing fun for both boys and girls of all ages due to the fact that so many different designs can be made from a small number of pieces. The new book of designs, printed in six colors, is included with each box of Design Blox and shows over fifty of the thousands of designs that can be made. A colorful counter display is available with actual designs made from the blocks themselves. This should be a most attractive sales help. Design Blox are not only fun for the children but instructive in many ways. They have proven to be year 'round sellers in many localities.

Walt Disney

WALT DISNEY RENEWS CONTRACT WITH KAY KAMEN, LTD.

EXERCISES OPTION FOR LONG TERM

Mr. R. H. McCready, September 7, 1938
PLAYTHINGS,
381 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

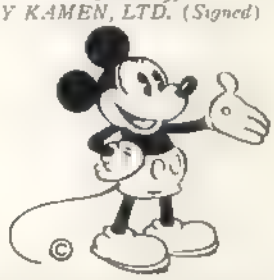
Dear Mr. McCready,

The celebration of your thirty-fifth anniversary seems a fitting occasion to express my appreciation of the benefits derived from our advertising and publicity in PLAYTHINGS Kay Kamen, Ltd., has constantly appeared in its columns during the six years since we commenced operations and gratefully acknowledges PLAYTHING'S influence in the development of our business

In recognition of our friendly and profitable relationship we extend congratulations and best wishes.

Cordially,
KAY KAMEN, LTD. (Signed) Kay Kamen.

Kay Kamen



KAY KAMEN OF KAY KAMEN, LTD., who congratulates R. H. McCready of PLAYTHINGS on the thirty-fifth anniversary of the publication, is himself due congratulations on the occasion of a renewal of contract with Walt Disney Enterprises. A regular advertiser in PLAYTHINGS, Kay Kamen, Ltd., has become one of the most important factors in the toy industry in the six short years since the business was founded, and makes grateful acknowledgment to PLAYTHINGS Magazine in his congratulatory letter

Kay Kamen, Ltd., exclusive representative of Walt Disney Enterprises, is engaged in the business of licensing manufacturers and advertisers to use names and designs of Walt Disney characters. So sensationally successful has been the operation of Kay Kamen, Ltd., over a period of years, that announcement of renewal of contract with Walt Disney Enterprises comes as no surprise. This success is eloquently demonstrated in the recently issued 1938-1939 Walt Disney Character Merchandise Catalogue. Over a hundred manufacturers producing more than a thousand news items are represented. Department stores, drug stores and 5c to $1.00 chain stores are provided with seemingly endless opportunity to choose assortments of articles that are readily saleable to the millions who know and love the characters they see in Walt Disney's superb Technicolor motion picture productions.

NEW PRODUCTS AND DESIGNS

Immortal Mickey Mouse and his Pals and Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs have made their appearances in so many merchandise versions that it is amazing to observe the new products and designs that continue to make their appearance. The unprecedented triumph of Walt Disney's Technicolor motion picture "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," the world's first full-length film in which no living actors appear, represents an epoch marking development in the motion picture industry. Smashing attendance and long-run records in theatres wherever it has played, approximately 4,000 exhibitors have yet to show the feature. Along with this information comes the news that a re-issue of the motion picture "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" is already being planned with dynamic publicity comparable to campaigns usually developed only for introductions of major productions. This is virtually an assurance of sustained consumer interest which will be welcomed by manufacturers and retailers who have derived so much profit and sales volume from Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs character merchandise in a period when other business has been difficult to get. Since this motion picture classic was released after the Christmas buying season of 1937, the coming Christmas will really be the first. An entire year of successful merchandising of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs comes to a climax that is destined to reach new peaks of success

A visit to the last Toy Fair emphasizes the mighty power Walt Disney character merchandise will exert on the toy buying public in the Christmas season of 1938. Significant for many years Disney character toys easily predominate the new toy world.

IN ADDITION TO TOYS

Disney character toys are of prime importance but one must consider with profound respect the huge collection of other Disney character gift merchandise. The range between pocket handkerchiefs and fine jewelry by Cartier gives some indication of the tremendous scope. Party favors, infants' and children's apparel and underwear, fabrics, boy's furnishings, rubber boots, radios, stationery, greeting cards, writing paper, childrens' hosiery, brush sets, watches, silverware, lamps, linens, snow suits and juvenile furniture are but a few of the articles

The artistry of Walt Disney is primarily responsible for the world wide popularity of merchandise associated with his beloved motion picture characters, yet Kay Kamen and his organization are due a share of credit for the phenomenal development of a unique business.

After a manufacturer is duly licensed to produce Walt Disney character merchandise the work really begins. An impressive staff of designers, artists, writers and advertising and merchandising counsellors cooperate with telling effect. This organization works with a manufacturer all the way from the designing and packaging of his merchandise to the promotion and final distribution. "Details make perfection but perfection is no detail" quotes Kay Kamen whose vision imagination and inspiration are reflected by his entire staff. This enables him to project his personality and to contribute to the success of manufacturers great and small as Kay Kamen, Ltd., licensees include small factories with limited distribution as well as huge industrial plants whose products appear on the shelves of every retail store in this great nation

The renewal of contract between Walt Disney and Kay Kamen, Ltd., assures retailers that Walt Disney character merchandise, for many years the source of large volume and substantial profit under Kay Kamen's direction, can be counted among their assets for many more years to come

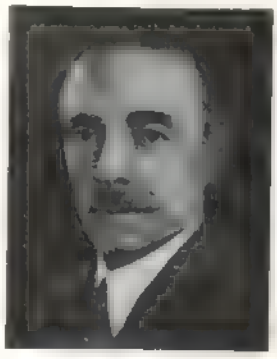
PROTECTION OF TOY AND NOVELTY PRODUCTS

BY MAURICE BLOCK
Patent Lawyer

Patent Protection

IF THE invention or improvement is structural, that is, if it involves mechanism or manner of construction, or has operative parts, in that event the same may be protected by a structural or ordinary patent. Such patents are granted for the term of 17 years, but no renewal can be obtained after the expiration of the patent. Notwithstanding the expiration of the original patent, if the structure of the article, or the mechanism, in the course of time is improved, a patent may be obtained upon the improvement. However, the subject-matter of the original patent, upon its expiration, becomes public property and open to use by all in the trade.

If the article is improved by decorative features or in matter of shape or form, it may become the subject of a design patent. Design patents are granted for 3½ years, or for 7 years, or for 14 years, according to a graduated government fee depending upon the term desired. Many toy hits, secured by patents, have been the source of large profits for one manufacturer, which otherwise would have been shared by the trade generally were it not for such patent protection.



Maurice Block

Editor's Note: Maurice Block's articles pertaining to the procuring and protecting of patents, trademarks and copyrights have been regular monthly features in PLAYTHINGS for thirty years.

Trademark Protection

A GOOD trademark, like a good name, is priceless. Many toy articles have had great success in the market because they were coupled with a catchy or attractive name, which technically is called a trademark. By continued advertising of such a trademark, a good will of great value is established, and it in many instances is of more value than a patent because the public will come to identify the article with the particular manufacturer and thus create a valuable good will. Furthermore, the life of a patent is limited to a fixed period of 17 years, whereas the life of a trademark is everlasting. There are quite a number of trademarks in use today that were adopted more than a century ago and whose value increases with time. Of course, the best way to keep the trademark before the public is to continually advertise the same, for instance, in the trade magazines and national periodicals, and also by display advertising and demonstrations. Federal registration of a trademark can be effected if used in interstate commerce, which will give jurisdiction to the United States courts in cases of trademark infringement. The term of such registration is 20 years, with a renewal period of 20 years, but even after the expiration of the extended period, the trademark can be re-registered in the United States Patent Office indefinitely. Where the trademark is used in intra-state commerce only, state registration can be effected in many such cases. Aside from registration, however, the owner of a trademark at all times has a right for redress against infringement under the common law

Copyright Protection

NOT ONLY the layman but often the attorney is at sea in questions involving copyright protection. The Copyright Act was fundamentally enacted to protect works of the fine arts such as literary productions, paintings, sculptures, music, etc., so that articles of ordinary manufacture and commerce are not generally copyrightable under the Copyright Act; for instance, attempts have been made to copyright dresses and textile designs, but the courts have held copyrights covering such articles of manufacture to be invalid. However, labels and prints having distinctive designs, pictorial illustrations, and the like, can be registered, under the Copyright Act, in the United States Patent Office. In the toy line, for instance, rules for games can be protected by copyright, also picture and story books. There are other matters relating to the toy industry which may form the subject of copyright protection but cannot be dwelt upon at length in this article because of lack of space. Copyrights are granted for a term of 28 years with a renewal term for a similar period. It is essential that every article before being copyrighted and as soon as placed upon the market should bear the statutory copyright notice, otherwise unreasonable delay will be held to be a dedication to the public and invalidate any rights which otherwise may have been maintainable.

Protection Under Law of Unfair Trading

AN EFFECTIVE remedy is available, aside from patent, trademark, or copyright protection, to prevent piracy by unscrupulous manufacturers palming off goods, either directly or indirectly, as the goods of a competitor. The writer has in many articles published in PLAYTHINGS dwelt at length upon this subject. The courts have established certain

BAUSCH AND LOMB RECTANGULAR READER

The rectangular type glass is ideal where a reading glass must be used over extended periods. It is lighter than the round type of the same size, because the outer, unused portions of the lens have been cut off. This makes it exceptionally desirable in map making and photo retouching as well as in ordinary reading. The chromium plated rim protects the lens surfaces.

ILLUSTRATION SHOWING DUO-PAWL

The duo-pawl offers a convenience to the angler in that if one end of the pawl wears out it is only necessary to remove the pawl, change ends and reassemble. The reel will then be as good as new and eliminates the possibility of ruining a fishing trip because of the lack of a new pawl.

The duo-pawl offers a convenience to the angler in that if one end of the pawl wears out it is only necessary to remove the pawl, change ends and reassemble. The reel will then be as good as new and eliminates the possibility of ruining a fishing trip because of the lack of a new pawl.

CAL'S COLT

Said Johnnie to Mary,
While they were at play,
"Let's think of some fun,
Something different today."

Said Mary to Johnnie,
"I know what we'll do,
We'll ride our CAL'S COLTS
And I bet I beat you."

So they took their Colts
And started a race;
With laughter and shouting
They kept a good pace.

Said Johnnie to Mary,
"I'm a cowboy an Tony."
Said Mary to Johnnie,
"Just look at my pony."

"Of course you go faster
But that isn't fair,
I'm taking my doll
For some nice fresh air."

Said Johnnie to Mary
"Oh! Well, there's no danger
We can ride our Colts
Like an old Texas Ranger."

WOLKENBERG FEATURES NEW TYPE PROJECTOR

Gorden H. Wolkenberg is acting as exclusive sales representatives for the American Proca Corp., who are introducing the Vocascope, a combination Film Slide Projector and Phonograph and the Vocagraph, and electrically driven phonograph. The Vocascope offers a distinct innovation in a picture projector with sound. The pictures are arranged on a standard 16mm motion picture to tell the story in continuity. The story is recorded with a bell signal so that the pictures—advanced manually by the operator—and the record are synchronized. A 50 watt lamp together with a scientific optical system produces a clear, sharp picture from 4 to 20 feet from the screen. A comprehensive film library consisting of comedies and action pictures is available, to retail at 25c per film. The Vocagraph is described as a sturdy, well constructed metal phonograph playing all standard records with an electrically driven turntable and the most advanced sound reproducing elements. Both the Vocascope and Vocagraph are on display in Gorden Wolkenberg's showroom in the Fifth Avenue Building.

COLLEGEVILLE'S "LONE RANGER" COWBOY SUITS

The Collegeville Flag & Mfg. Company stress the fact that they are the exclusive authorized manufacturers of copyrighted "Lone Ranger" cowboy suits, to retail from $1 to $6. Many new styles have been added to the line for Fall and Christmas sale. This firm reports that, due to the tremendous publicity given the "Lone Ranger" over the radio, in the movies and in the new newspaper comics, their "Lone Ranger" cowboy suits have been the fastest sellers of any cowboy suits they have ever offered the trade. It has been necessary to substantially increase their already large production facilities so that prompt shipments will be made on all orders. This progressive concern operates two factories in Pennsylvania, both of which are running full blast to take care of the unprecedented "Lone Ranger" business. An efficient organization, numbering over 250 employees, is now hard at work producing "Lone Ranger" cowboy suits. The entire "Lone Ranger" line, in addition to Collegeville's other items, including Edgar Bergen's "Charlie McCarthy" masquerade costumes, is displayed at 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City, and 716 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

HEATED DOLL

The "Bag-Cover" Doll has been introduced by the Heated Doll Co., 1947 Broadway, New York City. This practical novelty has a hot water bottle in place of a body, giving softness and lifelike warmth to the doll.

NEW WYANDOTTE TOYS

The new heavy-duty dollar trucks, included in the 1938 line of the All Metal Products Company, Wyandotte, are representative if the type of toy for which this company has become famous. They are made of heavy gauge steel and are unusually strong and rugged. Their design is modern to the minute and being 21" long they are massive in appearance. Other new numbers in the Wyandotte Line include new mechanical toys both in solid colors and lithographed metal and a complete new line of lithographed Musical Tops and Mechanical Toys from the Hackettstown, N. J., plant.

THEY PRINT SMALL NEWSPAPERS ON SUPERIOR'S $2.50 PRESS

Into the office of The Superior Type Co. in Chicago, with every mail come samples of small newspapers, handbills, tickets, post cards and other jobs which boys have printed on their new Swiftset Rotary Printing Presses, and have thought so good that they wanted the manufacturers to see their work. Many of them are completely printed eight page miniature newspapers, folded to 7" x 3½" size, and including pictures and several sizes of type. Others are attractive handbills which the boys have printed for their local butcher, baker, or grocer. The universal acceptance of the press by toy buyers, and the enthusiastic response it has received wherever displayed to consumers, is ample proof that there has always been an unsatisfied demand for a moderate-priced, simply operated printing press. The press, complete with type and all accessories sells for $2.50. No small feature of it is the fact that additional fonts of type in several faces and sizes, and assortments of picture dies (about 10 to an assortment) to print along with type, are available for 50c. Further details may be secured by writing to The Superior Type Co., 3940 Ravenswood Ave., Chicago.

A. G. FELDMAN TO THE RESCUE

A girl and six youths were rescued from drowning by A. G. Feldman, president of the Storkline Furniture Corporation, Chicago, on Saturday, August 20th, when he sighted them clinging to their overturned craft five miles off Highland Park on Lake Michigan. It was only through Mr Feldman's heroic efforts that the lives of these seven persons were spared, inasmuch as the storm which caused their craft to upset was raging furiously. Without a thought for his own safety, Mr. Feldman entered the water and effected the rescue.

Several of those rescued were exhausted from exposure and after first said treatment on Mr. Feldman's yacht, they were revived sufficiently to be taken ashore for further treatment.

The ensemble consists of fancy two tone hat, coat with belt, and slacks. These items are also sold separately. Each number comes in fast colors of red, green or blue, and in assorted sizes

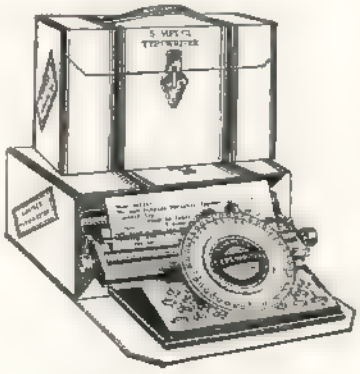
Improved Punching Bag

YALE FLOOR TYPE PUNCHING BAG IMPROVED

Frederich H. Beach, who recently opened a new showroom at 200 Fifth Ave., New York, has perfected the well known patented Yale Floor Punching Bag in several ways. Improvements have been made in the valve and also the supports for the bag. This floor type bag can be used either indoors or out, as it can be readily moved about and placed wherever desired. It has a strong spiral spring in the base that snaps the bag back after it is punched. Two models are available. The smaller one has a leatherette bag with stem bladder. The larger one has a genuine leather bag with a valve bladder. The Yale Floor Type Punching Bag is made for Mr. Beach by The Moneco Co., New Haven, Conn., who also sell the bag.

NEW AND LARGER "SIMPLEX" TYPEWRITERS

The Simplex Typewriter Co., Inc., emphasizes that their 1938 line features the largest models in their long history. Proving particularly popular is the $1 retail "Simplex" which comes in a handsome and sturdy little carrying case. Two other models, to retail at $1.75 and $3, are also available. "Simplex" typewriters, were placed on the market almost half a century ago, and have been one of America's outstanding toy lines ever since. In fact, the line dates right back to the beginning of the toy industry.



The New Large Simplex Typewriter

Albert Wilkens

A GOOD WORD FOR OLDER BUYING METHODS

"Buying methods of former years were more advantageous to all concerned than those which are in vogue today," Albert Wilkens of the Riemann, Seabrey Co. recently said. "Orders on staple merchandise were placed early in the year, for at least a substantial percentage of what the buyer knew from previous experience that he would require. This of course was a big help to the manufacturers, since it enabled them to spread their output more evenly through the year. But it was also beneficial to the buyers. It assured delivery of wanted merchandise, eliminating the possibility of having to take what is available as is often the case when late buying prevails. It left the buyer free to sell goods in the latter part of the year, rather than to spend valuable time shopping around trying to fill in his stock. With the bulk of his purchases off his mind, the buyer could devote his energies to planning his holiday display and promotional features. Of course certain conditions of today make it difficult for a buyer to place substantial early commitments, but if these conditions could be changed to allow a return to earlier buying the retailer would benefit just as much as the manufacturer." Mr. Wilkens is thoroughly conversant with trends in toy buying over a long period of time having been associated with the toy trade even before PLAYTHINGS appeared on the scene. He started with Geo. F. Riemann Jr., in 1901, and has watched the American toy industry grow from its early stages to its present widespread activity

LYNCO'S "GANG BUSTERS" GAME

Lynco, Inc., manufacturers of Phillips H. Lord's unique "Gang Busters" game, say that arrangements have been made by many leading stores to feature this thrilling pastime during the coming fall and holiday sales season. The vastly entertaining "Gang Busters" radio program is now being broadcast at 8 P.M. every Wednesday evening over the Columbia network. This change in time, in the opinion of the Lynco firm, should mean the addition of many millions of youngsters to the regular "Gang Busters" audience. At $1.00 retail, Lynco's "Gang Busters" game offers outstanding value. It is packed in a handsome and colorful display box, and the board and all the accessories are of the finest quality obtainable

Type 1300 American Dead Weight Pressure Gauge Testers

Standard Type

For Testing Pressure Gauges Up to 1000 Pounds

A simple and compact instrument for the testing of all pressure gauges up to 1000 pounds. Since the testing is made by the use of dead weights in 5-pound units, this type of tester is accurate. The only inaccuracy is due to the tolerances in the piston diameter and the weights. This amount to less than 1/10 of 1 per cent of the actual reading.

Weights are die cast. They are stacked on posts on the same base as the tester, for convenience in using, and to prevent their being mislaid.

Tester is made of brass, nickel-plated and is an integral part of the cast iron base. Cover is of sheet steel with crystallized finish, and fits over the complete tester and may be locked to the base.

All necessary tools are supplied in a convenient Fabricoid carrying case. They consist of 2 wrenches, a screwdriver, pliers, gauge pointer remover, gauge pointer setter, a spirit level and the necessary connection nipples.

Gauge shown on tester is not furnished with tester.

● It is raining somewhere all the time. Every minute, 960 million tons of water is falling: 65 inches a year on the Gulf coast, 40 to 60 on the Atlantic coast, 35 to 55 in the Central States, 20 on the plains east of the Rockies and up to 100 inches in places on the West coast. This creates a constant, predictable demand for waterproof and water-repellent garments that the Alligator Company, St. Louis, Mo., is helping dealers to merchandise profitably with layouts like those pictured here, the year around

Alligator Raincoats and Galecloth Sports Garments in Growing Demand

WHEREVER there is rainfall, dealers are doing a flourishing business in Alligator raincoats and in Galecoats, the latter being made of Galecloth, the water-repellent, worsted-like fabric developed exclusively for the Alligator Company, 4171 Bingham avenue, St. Louis, Mo. Both types of garments are notable for authentic styling and fine workmanship.

Galecoats for men include golf jackets, bush coats, hunting coats, breeches, double-seat and double-knee pants, hats, sack coats and pants for rough wear; wading coats, skeet and trapshooting jackets; and jackets, pants, knickers, hoods, hats and mitts for skiing. Models for boys include single-breasted fly-front, and double-breasted, full belted raglans. For women and misses there are single-breasted fly-front raglans, double-breasted, full-belted models, golf jackets and ski jackets.

Galecloth is a revolutionary new water-repellent fabric that comes in an extremely wide choice of authentic colors which are definitely fast, because built in as part of the water-repellent process.

Alligator raincoats, which have led the raincoat market for many years, are made by an exclusive process which has won them a reputation for waterproofness, combined with lightness, comfort and long wear.

Supporting the merchandise itself, the Alligator Company provides a complete, up-to-date and effective merchandising program for its dealers. This includes "Comura" commercial murals (multi-purpose display paneling in attractively colored bas-relief) suitable for wall sections, post and aisle treatments, spot displays, shelf ends, display windows, etc.; newspaper advertising illustrations and copy suggestions, and everything else needed to do a continuously profitable selling job on Alligator raincoats and Galecoats for sports and street wear.

The Alligator Company will welcome inquiries from sporting goods dealers.

Dramatic Racket Display

Dunlop's new four-color tennis stand-up, 40 inches in height, which features a likeness of Vincent Richards holding the new Maxply tennis frame, is now available to dealers and stores carrying the Dunlop tennis line. It contains a cut out for inserting a metal container of Dunlop's new pressure packed tennis balls.

Hall's Hobby Is Wood

over 13¼ to 13½ inches from the butt, is safest. You should have a strong bow, stiff enough to allow for tightest stringing, and yet one that is not too heavy, else balance will be lost.

"Any intelligent athlete who enjoys tennis can learn the proper holds and how to stroke and time a ball correctly and after sufficient lessons and practice with a good professional, can develop a fair game, but the racket must perform to get the accuracy and speed of the star."

The truth of this statement from one who has designed rackets for many of the great stars is aptly phrased by Ellsworth Vines, who once said, "Don't expect a symphony tone from a ten dollar fiddle."

A visit to Hall's new factory, efficiently planned and built by him, is an eye-opener. Much of the machinery necessary for his unique laminated product is of his own invention. With over 100 patent claims registered in the United States and Canada, his inventive mind still searches for improvements.

Hall, who is recognized as one of the leading wood technologists of the country, produces laminated rackets of five to ten ply, bent to shape without steaming. He personally selects the logs from which the wood veneers are cut under his direction. His work is a monument to what patience and perseverance can do.

U. S. Reissues Fairway Golf Ball Display

The full color, lithographed floor display for U. S. golf balls pictured herewith has created such favorable attention wherever it has been set up that, for the first time, the golf ball department of the U. S. Rubber Products, Inc., 1790 Broadway, New York City, is using a display piece for two years in succession and reissuing it this year. The display stands 43½ inches high and is 26 inches wide. It has a putting cup in the sloping base which enables purchasers of new putters to put them through their paces right in the sporting goods dealer's place of business. Many golfers dislike buying their clubs, and especially putters, without first trying them out so as to get the swing and "feel" of the club, hence the display is just as valuable as a practical selling unit as it is for ornamental golf ball display purposes.

SALT WATER FISHING BECOMING MORE POPULAR

The heavy number of requests for the new Penn salt water reel Catalog No. 6, issued by the Penn Fishing Tackle Mfg. Company, Philadelphia, Pa., indicates growing interest in salt water fishing among anglers. Publicity surrounding record 1937 catches of tuna, marlin, broad-bill and other deep sea species has undoubtedly whetted the appetites of salt water fishermen whose sport heretofore has been confined to shore waters and bays—likewise the fresh water anglers have become salt water conscious. Another contributing factor is the bringing of the price of heavier tackle within the range of the average sportsman's pocket-book. The Penn Senator 12/0 reel on 39 thread line, which is shown herewith, retailing for $50, is a case in point. Record catches with this reel on both coasts have made it the most popular item in the Penn line which retails from two dollars up.

GENERAL ELECTRIC MAZDA LAMPS

Mazda lamps are consigned to dealers holding a contract with the Incandescent Lamp Department. The contract is in force for a period of one year. The discount extended to the dealer depends on the total sales made during this one-year period.

They are sold outright (not consigned) to large consumers, such as industrial plants, theatres and the like. Lamps sold to this class of trade are not to be re-sold at retail prices, but are solely for use in their own plants. Such consumers may obtain a discount based on the total purchases for a one-year period, providing a contract is signed.

Mazda lamps may be sold to anyone not holding a contract at the list price; or at 15% discount from the list price, providing full standard packages are purchased.

DURA-WOOL COVER SPEEDS UP TENNIS BALLS

The 1938 Pennsylvania Championship tennis ball is receiving a more enthusiastic reception throughout the country than ever before, L. J. Waldron, general sales manager of the Pennsylvania Rubber Company, Jeannette, Pa., reports. This ball has a new Dura-Wool cover of a special wool felt of a distinctive weave, which is heavier-gauged, longer-napped and tougher than that which distinguished the Pennsylvania ball for years. It wears fuzzier instead of smooth, making the ball more durable, and imparts greater authority to a player's cut and chop shots, improving his game accordingly.

Pennsylvania has pioneered many tennis ball improvements. It originated pressure-packing and developed and patented an exclusive rubber center construction, which brought a new meaning to accuracy of shots and uniformity of balance and bounce, and has steadily evolved more serviceable weaves and felts for ball covering, culminating in this year's superior Dura-Wool cover.

SIMMONS MAILS 10,000 BASEBALL WEEK FOLDERS

No dealer who is a customer of the Simmons Hardware Company, St. Louis, Mo., can be unaware of the impending Twentieth Annual observance of National Baseball Week, April 2 to 9.

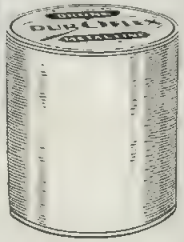
To 10,000 dealers, that jobbing firm has mailed as many portfolios containing a 24 by 36-inch broadside printed in red and blue on white paper, showing baseballs in four price ranges, gloves and mitts in ten styles, bats in four styles, baseball shoes and baseball caps. Also, softballs, softball bats and softball gloves. All prices in the broadside are printed in plain "per dozen" figures, so that the dealer can make his selection quickly and send in his order to Simmons' promptly.

To help the dealer move the merchandise after he has stocked it, the Simmons company also supplies him with a 12 by 45-inch National Baseball Week window streamer, two other large paper signs featuring Simmons' Championship baseball equipment, two window cards, each 11 by 14 inches, and four price cards five and one-half by seven inches in diameter.

With all of the above equipment, the dealer is enabled to make a striking showing.

HUNTINGTON INTRODUCES DUR O FLEX METAL LINE

The Dur O Flex is a new metal fishing line that is said to handle on the reel like linen line. It was developed by L. B. Huntington, 118 Hollingsworth street, Baltimore, Md., manufacturer of Drone baits, specifically for trolling in either salt water or fresh water, and is sold through jobbers. In size, the Dur O Flex line is about equal to an ordinary nine-thread line, yet it tests 50 pounds. It is not affected by water, it resists kinking and will not foul readily, nor will it give you a "lap full" of water when you reel in your line. Because it does not rust, corrode or deteriorate with the passing of time, the length of its life is determined by use rather than by age. Fifty pound test Dur O Flex line is priced at $1.20 in 50 yard lengths; $2.30 in 100 yard, and $4 50 in 200 yard length.



Attractive window and counter display material, point-of-sale literature and cuts for local advertising are at the command of dealers stocking Dur O Flex lines. If your dealer is not now supplying Dur O Flex line, the manufacturer invites you to write direct, mentioning the name of your jobber.

"IMAGINARY GANGSTER" KILLS CAP SALES

Because the public has come to believe that only gangsters wear caps, the cap industry is faced with possible extinction, Hal. A. Salzman, public relations counsel to several men's wear industries, told a gathering of cap manufacturers who met recently at the Broadway Central Hotel in New York City.

The meeting was one of a series being held under the guidance of Cap Promotion, Inc., a manufacturers' group formed to promote cap sales, by raising and spending $50,000 for advertising and promotional efforts.

- That Hafner today uses the identical spring motor — plus slight improvements — that has been used continuously since 1901? That's why Hafner trains stay sold.
- That Hafner Mechanical Trains have made more than 5,000,000 "Kiddies" happy on Christmas morning — plus the same number of "Daddies"?
- That Hafner trains are exported to Canada, European countries, Far East, South America, and many other foreign countries?

HALSAM MAKES AMERICAN LOGS IN THREE SIZES

The new line of American Logs being displayed at the New York Toy Fair has been given greater sales appeal by increasing the number of items available, and by the addition of refinements which increase the play value and realism of pioneer construction. "Giant" logs of 1-inch size are now available in sets of from 85 to 323 pieces in a retail price range of $3.50 to $10.00. In the medium size, ¾-inch logs are sets of from 50 to 163 pieces, for retail selling at 50c to $2.00; and in the small size, 9/16-inch, are sets of 44 to 65 pieces, retailing at 20c to 50c. Angle pieces, drilled logs, dowel and wheels, are new pieces now found in the larger sets, and special metal clips for holding roof boards in position make construction easier and more realistic. It is notable that the various sizes of logs can be used in combinations that enhance the effect of finished models and add to the many interesting and fascinating forms of construction that can be accomplished by having several sizes of logs from which to select; a feature, the manufacturers say, found only in the Halsam line. American Logs are rough stained in natural colors, harmless to children, and cleverly embossed to give the hewn effect of the hand-cut, crude timber.

JAVORSKY'S WORLD ANIMALS

Harry Javorsky of the World Toy Mfg. Co. has been making popular priced stuffed animals since before the War, and with all this experience to call upon, it is easy to see why his 1938 line, in his words "is the best yet." Mr. Javorsky takes pride in getting up novelty numbers, and the World line this season offers a profusion of peppy, bright creations dressed in colorful costumes, which add extra eye value, not to say play value. The World Line, presided over by Mr. Javorsky will be ready for the critical inspection of Toy Fair visitors at the Hotel McAlpin.

AN INTERESTING DISPLAY

Unusual use of atmospheric display material created an interesting Lionel Electric Train window for the Nova Scotia Light Heat & Power Co. of Halifax, N. S., in December. By the use of Christmas trees and crepe paper, the background was set for a colorful display of electric train merchandise.

SNOW WHITE BALLOONS

With the showing of Walt Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" penetrating the country to the smaller cities, the sale of toys based on these characters increases. Among the most popular and fastest sellers are The Oak Rubber Company's Snow White and Seven Dwarfs balloons. The line includes a large variety of "prints," novelties and toss ups. Owing to the exclusive arrangement with the Walt Disney enterprises only Oak offers the genuine Disney characters in toy balloons.

ELECTRIC FOOD MIXERS

HAMILTON BEACH

The new model D is not limited to any definite number of speeds. The slightest change in the position of the speed control switch changes the speed of the beaters. The speed control is marked from 1 to 15. Any desired speed is available. Maintains a constant, controlled speed of the beaters in heavy or light mixtures, at low or high speeds. No slowing down as the mixture becomes heavier when "folding-in"—no speeding up as the mixture thins when adding milk or water.

The powerful, compact motor lifts easily off the stand with one hand—there is nothing to release or detach. The same hand starts and stops the motor or controls mixing speeds—giving complete one-hand operation. Take the motor to the stove or table—mix in any bowl or pan

Equipped with radio interference eliminator.

The chromium plated beaters are fastened together and protected by a guard. Slide off easily in one piece.

Bowl control regulates the revolving speed of the bowl and shifts the bowl back and forth so that beaters are in any position desired—from the center to the very edge. This exclusive feature prevents the mixture from piling up in the middle or around the edge of the bowl.

This mixer has more power than is ever needed. Only part of its capacity is used for heaviest mixtures.

Opaque glass bowls in beautiful ivory or white Small bowl holds 1 qt., large bowl 3 qts.

Easy to keep clean. Baked enamel finish and chromium plate. Non-marring rubber feet.

Bakelite handle on top. Nicely balanced due to horizontal position of motor.

Worm-gear drive. Quiet, compact, long-life Gears will not strip even if a spoon is caught in the beaters.

Long rubber cord with rubber plug.

Operates on A.C. or D.C., 105-120 volts, 25 to 60 cycles.

The New Ultra Modern Showroom of the Arranbee Doll Co. in the Fifth Avenue Building

ARRANBEE'S NEW TOY CENTER DISPLAY

Visitors to the Fifth Avenue Building during the Toy Fair will find in the new ultra-modern showroom of the Arranbee Doll Company, photograph of which appears herewith, the last word in design appointments and lighting effects. This rich example of interior design is the creation of John Rybakoff Interiors, Inc., well known for their originality and artistic skill in industrial display. Several banks of lights are used in the indirect lighting system which prevails throughout. The effect of the special hung ceiling is heightened by the floor design which appears to reflect, in miniature, the beauty of the overhead design, somewhat in the same manner that sunlit foliage is reflected on the surface of a glassy pool. Side walls and tables are finished in glossy Avodire wood. All tables and chairs were made to order. Brilliantly lighted built-in display cases show the merchandise to excellent advantage. Two private conference rooms for the use of buyers, furnished to match the beauty and comfort of the showroom, go to make up a three-room suite that leaves nothing to be desired in the art of interior decoration. In keeping with the modern tone of the exhibit room, this progressive firm is featuring an entirely new departure in infant dolls called 'Cry Baby." This amazing doll not only cries as it sits up, but real tears actually course down its cheeks. The child dries the tears, feeds dolly from the bottle and the instant the doll lays down, it wets its diaper. "Cry Baby" is an all-rubber doll with a hard rubber head. Then there are new 'Teen Dolls, newly designed Nanette Mama Dolls, Nancy Dolls and a host of other timely creations that will be shown for the first time during the Toy Fair in Room 538. A cordial invitation to visit this display is extended by William and Morris Rothstein, J. Ardbaum, C. Petlitz and S. Frey

BASEBALL TRAINER

Arcade Manufacturing Company, of Freeport Ill. are introducing two new novelties in Training Bat and Ball sets. The outfit consists of a wooden bat and a sponge rubber ball, the ball attached to the bat by means of a live rubber ribbon. The bat measures 23 inches long, 2¼ inches wide at the blade and 1 inch wide at the handle, which is ½ inch thick. The handle is painted black and the blade is red. With this outfit the batter can knock the ball twenty to twenty-five feet by hitting it properly. The larger size has a bat 31½ inches long and 3 inches wide. The new Spring catalog of the Arcade Manufacturing Company is now ready and is known as Catalog No. 54. It is attractively gotten up in bright colors illustrating many items, including garden sets lawn mowers, road construction sets and other cast iron toys, sand box toys, pistols and midget iron tools. The entire line is shown in their permanent display in Room

AUTO-MAGIC ADDS NEW FEATURES

The Stephens Products Company, Inc., New York, manufacturers of the Auto-Magic Picture Gun line, announce a bonus to picture gun fans this year in the form of bigger and more complete outfits without any increase in price. The 1938 line will be introduced for the first time at the Toy Fair. "This year merchants must offer exceptional values to maintain volume," declares Clarence L. Stephens, president of the Company. "Accordingly, we have now made it possible for our retail trade to offer greater values than ever in the Auto-Magic Picture Gun line. When we set ourselves to this task we found that it was not an easy one. Our article, unlike many others in the toy field, is a piece of mechanism that calls for precision tool work. The Picture Gun is composed of many parts, every one fabricated separately from different kinds of metal. The assembly involves many separate operations and all the processes require testing for precise operation. Nevertheless, not only were we able to arrive at economies due in part to the constantly increasing world wide sale of the Picture Gun, but we were also able to improve the mechanism of the gun so that the 1938 model is the finest, sturdiest and most effective Picture Gun that we have ever produced. Auto-Magic Picture Gun outfits for 1938 are larger and handsomer than ever and contain more for the enjoyment of the user. Our production schedule and our merchandising and advertising plans are based upon a considerably increased volume of sales over 1937. We are facing the coming months with every confidence that this will be a banner year for the Auto-Magic Picture Gun." The new $1.50 Auto-Magic outfit will be packaged in a handsome setup box lithographed in four colors. The new large size will be 10¼" x 12¼". It will contain the new model gun, 7 film (196 views), the standard folding theatre in colors, a supply of theatre tickets. The new $1.00 outfit will be packaged in a set-up box, also greatly increased in size (9¼ x 6¼) beautifully lithographed in four colors. It will contain the new model gun, 3 films (84 views) and a one-dimensional "theatre" printed on a flap hinged to the platform inside the box. The assortment of Auto Magic Films has been greatly increased. Among the new subjects available are: Rip Van Winkle and the Dwarfs, Bunky Goes Hunting, Zion Brice Cedar Break National Park, Yellowstone National Park, Grand Canyon National Park, Tom Sawyer, Miggy Match and Tobby Toothpick, Daniel Boone and the Indians, Blacko in the Jungle, and others. The films are packaged in sets of three to retail at 25c. The Auto-Magic Picture Gun which is exclusively the product of the Stephens Products Company, Inc., is protected by strong patents and all rights through the world are reserved. The Picture Gun is well established as a year round seller and is an outstanding leader in many countries. In addition to its popularity as a toy, many thousands of Picture Guns are in use by large corporations as a sales promotion accessory with special films.

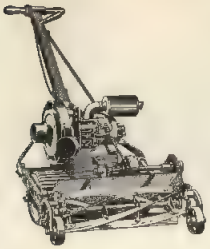
Jacobsen Power Mowers

Estate Roller

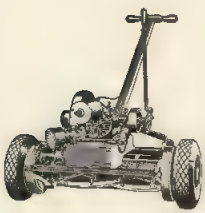


For those who have lawns of moderate size, and who take pride in fine, smooth turf, perfectly groomed by frequent cutting. It is of the roller type, similar to the special mowers made for the most exacting work on putting greens. The large roller distributes both the weight and the traction over a large area, making little pressure at any point, and always acting as a smoothing device. The roller is in two sections, each end being driven separately through the famous Jacobsen auto-type differential, thus making short turns under power, without scuffing the grass, and with utmost ease in handling. Having no wheels outside the frame, this mower cuts very close—within two inches of trees or other solid obstructions, and will actually overlap the edges of flower and shrubbery beds, thus reducing hand trimming to a minimum. Rollers are hollow metal, with rubber tread.

The engine is a genuine Jacobsen, operating on the same cycle as outboard motor-boat engines which have amazed the world with their power and stamina, and the engines of the new stream-lined railway trains. Rated at ¾ horsepower, this engine operates at slow speed to minimize wear, yet has ample power for mowing speeds of 1½ to 3 miles an hour. At 2 miles an hour the capacity is easily 2 acres in an 8-hour day. Separate clutches for the cutting reel and the traction drive make the mower free-wheeling when both are released—a big feature for easy operation. The reel clutch is designed to slip when anything jams in the knives. The cutting unit has a chrome-nickel steel five-blade reel 6 inches in diameter, carried in New Departure ball-bearings. It works against a bed knife with tipped blade of carbon-molybdenum steel, oil hardened. The cutting height is adjustable from 1-⅞ down to ⅜-inch—a range ample for any requirement. Width of cut, 20 inches. Weight, 155 lbs.

Estate Roller Mower. Complete with Rubber Covered Rollers, Caster Wheels and Front Roller. Each 150.00

Simplex



The Jacobsen "Simplex" is a wheel-type mower similar in power speed and capacity to the "Estate 20," adapted to suburban homes, small estates, etc., where a roller-type mower is not needed or desired. Available at still lower investment cost than the "Estate 20," it has the same engine with waterproof magneto and the same cutting unit with reel shaft mounted in Timken adjustable roller bearings. It has the distinctive Jacobsen auto-type differential for easy steering and pivot turns on its own power, and the safety slip feature in the drive to the reel.

Regularly equipped with metal wheels, balloon-rubber tires. Having pioneered the use of pneumatic tires on power mowers, Jacobsen has proved their value in quiet, shock-free operation, especially at higher speeds, in reduced ground pressure, and in avoiding damage to trees, shrubs, etc., which they may touch. They are especially advised where concrete or other hard roads or walks are crossed or used in transport.

The "Simplex" has a range of cutting height from ¾ to 2 inches with metal wheels with balloon tires. At a speed of three miles an hour it has a capacity of ⅓ acre per hour, or 2¾ acres in an eight-hour day after liberal allowance for turning, overlapping and slower work in cramped spots.

Width of cut, 20 inches. Weight, 153 lbs.

Special Sales

A DORMANT toy department attracts few customers, while one that is active rarely lacks traffic. One way of maintaining activity is to hold a series of special sales featuring items for which there is a popular and seasonal demand. Merchandise which can be successfully promoted during the next few months include such group toy combinations as a wheelbarrow with a hoe, rake and shovel set and lawn mower, a sand box containing several sand toys, a wading pool with an assortment of water toys, and a small pail with shovel, sieve and molds. The sale of group toys at special prices will increase traffic, unit sales and profits.

Who Is Gene Autry?

Rated Nation's No. 1 Movie Idol

PERHAPS you, too, have been asking the question "Who is this fellow Gene Autry?" since Kenton Hardware Co. put out its Gene Autry toy pistol this spring! If you live in the big cities and habituate the first run movie mansions for entertainment, you probably don't know much about this chap who is rated the world's most popular movie star. His following is in the smaller towns and the neighborhood sections of cities where his pictures, filmed by Republic Studios, are distributed. Attend one of these movies on a Saturday or during vacation and you'll soon be convinced who is the nation's Number 1 popular movie idol.

He is the "singing cowboy" of the screen, the man who has practically crowded the old reliable six-shooter out of western pictures and substituted the guitar. He makes more movies than Clark Gable, Robert Taylor and Errol Flynn put together and gets more fan mail than the three combined. That's going some! His fan letters run around 25,000 a week. It is estimated that about two-thirds of these are from youngsters and the majority of the balance are from parents who are appreciative of the type of pictures Autry makes.

His salary of $1500 a week is modest as far as Hollywood salaries go, but his phonograph records, radio appearances and songs, which he writes himself, put him up in the high money brackets. He's just 29, modest, and a regular guy . . . plays a good game of golf, no slouch at tennis and has one of the best horses of the country called "Champion." This beautiful animal appears with him in all his pictures as well as in his personal appearance tours.

Autry was born in Texas and grew up in the cow country so there is no faking his genuineness as a cowboy. But he loves to sing and from the beginning wanted to be an actor: in fact he ran away with a medicine show when he was just a kid but came home when it didn't work out so well. So he finished school before launching his professional career.

Enhances Western Spirit

The Autry movie masterpieces are western in spirit and rely on action, simple songs, a guitar and magnificent horses for their appeal. These are things everyone understands and Autry is convinced that producers will always make big money in western movies. In his personal appearance tours over the country he always puts over a grand slam performance. The kids go simply wild over him. And his latest picture "Boots and Saddles" is said to be the best of all.

Early this year, the Kenton Hardware Co., Kenton, O., secured a license to make a Gene Autry pistol, the first time this name had a commercial tie-up in the toy field. About this L. A. Carll, Vice-president and Sales Manager, writes "You wouldn't believe it, if I told you the sales figures . . . I will say, however, that in my experience in the toy business, I have never seen an item which enjoyed such a spontaneous sale as this pistol . . Now, I am going to be frank in saying that I never heard of Autry until the opportunity of using his name on our pistol arose. Needless to say, I am now convinced that he enjoys the wide popularity with the youngsters as claimed . . . I am advised that great care is taken in his pictures not to put bad ideas into the youngsters' heads. For instance, he is never allowed to shoot a man even though he does wield a gun rather promiscuously. His phonograph records out-sell his nearest competitor three to one; and to insure his continued popularity, his schedule calls for at least six months in personal appearances each year. Do I, by chance, sound like a press agent?"

Keyston Has Gene Autry Tie-Up

This month comes the interesting news that Keyston Brothers, San Francisco, manufacturers of cowboy outfits, have secured a license for the sole rights of the following juvenile cowboy play items: Gene Autry Pistol Holsters, Gene Autry Cowboy Playsuits, Gene Autry Cowboy Gauntlets, Gene Autry Cowboy Chaps, Gene Autry Juvenile Cowboy Belts, and Gene Autry Spurs. All these rights are fully protected.

Keyston Brothers have been in business since 1868, the oldest and perhaps largest manufacturer of western cowboy outfits. The new Gene Autry playsuit is "a natural" for this well known and highly regarded western house whose products are sold coast to coast and in many foreign countries, too.

Keyston Bros.' Toy Fair display room in New York is always a popular one with its gay and colorful cowboy display, authentic in every detail. The new Autry line promises to be an outstanding leader among Keyston products. Buyers having the records of Kenton's Gene Autry pistol as a precedent, have been quick to place orders. Thus another successful commercial tie-up is made by which the toy industry can expect sure profits.

See That Steel Connection!

The view of joint shows size of rod for .30 caliber and larger rifles. Note the size—which gives needed strength. It will not break off in the rifle. It is as rigid as a one-piece rod—and stays so.

The end of rod is fitted with a steel roller-bearing swivel which will withstand hard pulls and thrusts and prevent unscrewing of joints.

The wood handle projects beyond ferrule and prevents marring of muzzle.

Furnished with jagged and slotted tips and bag, and attachments which make rods fit any size or make of cleaner.

GUN AND RIFLE CLEANERS

Marble's Rifle Cleaner

The sections are made of a number of discs cut from softest brass gauze. They are separated by small fibre discs and strung on a spirally-bent spring-tempered steel wire.

The sections are smaller than the bore of rifle or revolver, therefore the spiral core forces only one part of each section against the bore, with the result that the cleaner must follow the twist.

This exclusive TOYS' photo shows Adam Moro of Akron shooting the match point which won him the Western Divisional Marble Championship at Michigan City, June 23. His opponent and runner-up was the colored boy from Hamilton, O., standing near by. Note the spectators' concentration, the newspaper photographers in the foreground, and the care with which the young mibster is taking his aim

The Nation Gets a New Marble Champion

By CORENA DAUGHERTY

Are the Stores of the U. S. Missing a Great Promotional Opportunity in Marbles?

LAST month TOYS carried an editorial "All About Mibsters," telling of the 3,000,000 boys in this country who were participating in the marble tournament sponsored by the Scripps-Howard newspaper chain. As a result, the TOYS' Editor received an invitation from the Scripps-Howard executives to attend the divisional marble tournament in Michigan City, June 23. Our curiosity got the best of us, so we drove over and I'm testifying that I saw one of the most exciting series of games it has ever been my good fortune to witness in any line of sports.

At this tournament, Adam Moro of Akron, Ohio, came out the winner defeating the runner up, a poker-faced colored boy from Hamilton, Ohio, in a thrilling match that was anybody's game up until the last marble was left in the ring, which was the match-point shot. Thrills aplenty, I tell you, in the tension of those boys as the game neared the end; each aiming with the utmost care, the audience spellbound at the boys' uncanny shooting accuracy and the rooters almost afraid to whisper for fear of disconcerting the players.

The victor in Michigan City won the honor of going to Wildwood, N. J., to compete in the finals, July 1. His competitors there were Frank Santo of Throop, Pa., northern champion; Joe Balrusaitis, Scranton, Pa., central champion; Sherman Eleuterius, Biloxi, Miss., southern champion; Dean Johnson, Roanoke, Va., eastern champion It must have been a great tournament. We should have liked to have seen Frank Santo, son of an unemployed miner, the winner in the finals, crowned after he finally eased out his other competitors. Incidentally this is the third time the National Marbie championship has gone to Throop, since the tournaments were first started.

Adam Moro, right, wearing victor's crown, receives the congratulations of his opponent in the Western Divisional Finals of the National Marble Tournament sponsored by the Scripps Howard newspapers. Adam went to Wildwood, N. J., to compete in the finals, but lost out there to Frank Santo of Throop, Pa., son of an unemployed miner

There really was a bonafide coronation of the winner. We saw the one at Michigan City and it was great. The finalist there (Akron) was crowned with a lovely brass crown, appropriately engraved, with large colored stones at the points—and was that youngster proud? I'll venture to say he will never again have a more triumphant moment in all his life than the moment of his coronation as marble champion of the West, with a long troop of admiring kids following him about. Once the crown got on his head, he wouldn't remove it even to eat. We wondered if he slept with it on.

Fine thing about the tournament is the discipline of practice that is necessary to get in the top brackets. You can't be a champion, nor even a runner-up, if you don't know how to stick to a proposition, if you don't have infinite patience for daily practicing, and the instincts of fair play. In Michigan City all the western city winners competed for the divisional honors and a finer set of boys, and better behaving, you'd not find. Striving for a championship is character forming and good influence.

That is the reason it struck ye Editor as a proposition for the department stores to take up and encourage, something to get the boys into the stores, even if only a practice ring is provided for after-school games, and perhaps exhibition matches between school champions on Saturdays. It is something to think over for January to June, when the stores are looking for something worthwhile to get behind and which will at the same time, increase traffic in their toy department.

American Flyer TRU-MODEL Miniature Trains

NEW HO GAUGE 3.5 MM. SCALE

These new spectacular miniature trains are tops in design—being built to scale from actual railroad blueprints. Locomotive, tender and cars are made of die casting and are equipped with bakelite wheels and automatic couplings. The N.Y.C. Hudson type (4-6-4) Locomotive has 6 drive wheels and is equipped with a remote control reverse motor. The motor has a 20 to 1 gear reduction which partly accounts for its amazing pulling power. Has a speed range from a slow crawl to a speed of 125 scale m.p.h. An outstanding feature is the new 2-rail track. Rails are solid drawn steel, each track section is mounted on a road-bed base. 16 curves form a 24-inch radius circle. This permits an entire train system to be installed in a small space—an important consideration for many railroaders.

AMUSE THE KIDDIES

"WE'VE BEEN UNUSUALLY successful during the past year in featuring 'toys that teach,'" said C. F. Velarde, buyer of toys for The Popular, El Paso, Texas. "People are beginning to see that toys are something more than to merely amuse the little ones; and that if the right kind are given they help both in the physical and mental development of the child. Linking up with the Parent-Teacher organizations we staged a three-day exhibit of toys, games and dolls the latter part of November in our seventh floor auditorium. We advertised it in our regular ad inviting everybody to "Visit the Toy, Book and Games Exhibit, under the auspices of the P. T. A., and then come down to our big second floor toy department and select the right toys for all your children of every age."

The Popular opened their holiday campaign Saturday Nov. 20, when they unveiled a series of toy windows that had crowds standing three deep in front of them. The most spectacular was the North Pole window. This showed a huge iceberg, with a few little evergreens growing out of clefts. On top was a little dwelling—Santa Claus' home. On top of another crest was a somewhat large building Sant's workshop; while hollowed out of the ice and rock was another workshop—the gnomes' toy factory. Suspension bridges linked up the different peaks, and a small electric train ran between the toy factory and Santa's home, then down the mountain, and across the window down front. An assortment of toys, mostly for the younger children, were shown in the foreground and in the corners. The upper part of the background was a deep blue curtain, studded with silver stars, with a small colored bulb in the heart of each, which alternately flashed and disappeared.

The corner window showed an almost life sized elephant that rolled its eyes, raised its trunk and swung its tail. A monkey was mounted on its head, and a clown, balancing a big colored ball, lay on its back. In the window were magic sets, chemistry sets, tool boxes, erector sets, science sets, telegraph and telephone outfits, boxing gloves, and other sporting goods, with a card "Santa's own suggestion for Boys."

The third window showed a ferris wheel, the seats filled with dolls. The wheel was studded with colored lights and slowly revolved. A card suggested "A Happy Christmas for All Little Girl Mothers." Many dolls and doll furniture filled the window.

The fourth toy window disclosed a four foot dancing elephant, dressed in green and gold. A card advised "Santa's Own Suggestion for Every Girl." Here were shown doll houses, doll furniture in sets, of china, pottery, and aluminum dishes, drawing set, yarn weaving set, sewing kit, and small practical electric stoves and irons.

The entrance to the Toy Department on the second floor is through an impressive blue and silver arch, decorated with much tinsel and studded with red, white and blue lights. "We are giving special attention to featuring

CHRISTMAS TOYS

Look first for profit-makers that work 12 times as long

THE majority of toys make the great bulk of their sales in the month of December—but here's a line with a demand that lasts all year. The line is toy Bissell carpet sweepers. And the 1938 models answer this demand with more sales appeal than ever.

The smart, colorful juvenile designs will make the youngsters jump with joy. Each sweeper has a bristle brush that sweeps—and dustpans that empty — "just like mother's." There are no sharp metal edges — and the mothers like that!

Three numbers sell at attractive prices—Little Helper at 25¢, Little Gem at 50¢ and Little Queen at $1.00 — and each earns you a good profit. Write today for the complete story.

Plans for TENNIS WEEK

AGAIN this year, manufacturers of tennis equipment are contributing to a fund to provide dealers with promotional material to be used during National Tennis Week, which, as heretofore, will be held immediately before Decoration Day. This year the dates are May 21 to 28.

Plans for that event, as this is written, are still in a tentative state, because the funds for promotional material are now being collected, and until the amount available is definitely known, the production of this material must be held in abeyance. However, Albert E. Thornley, secretary-treasurer of the Tennis Racket Manufacturers' Association is now receiving collections and he should have the remittances or pledges of all of the manufacturers at an early date.

It is proposed this year to issue 2,000 posters, 34 by 44 inches in size, printed in green, blue and sunburn, on a 100-pound lithograph paper stock. This poster is smaller than the one issued last year, but is still sufficiently large to dominate a display, whether in the window or interior of a store. There will be twice as many posters available this year as last, so that dealers requesting the poster will not be disappointed because of limited supplies.

It is further proposed to issue poster stamps, one and one-half by two inches in size, and of the same design and colors as the large poster. More than a half million of these poster stamps will be printed for use in affixing to letterheads, envelopes, billheads, direct mail matter, etc. A quantity of these will be included with each poster going to dealers, and contributors to the National Tennis Week fund will also be supplied with a quantity free of charge for their own use.

It is also proposed to planograph an eight-page instructional folder, which will not only contain ideas for use of the National
